Modern Learning: the '60 Look

FOREWORD

A new year, a new building, new teachers, new classes, new activities; and of course, old teachers, old classes, old friends, and some old experiences. A happy confusing mixture of the old with the new.

Red Lion Senior High hasn't been standing still. Everything has been moving at a maddening pace. We of the class of '60, through this book, would like to show you how the students as well as the faculty and administration have been caught up in MODERN LEARNING: THE '60 LOOK.

CONTENTS

SPRING 1959 . . . ANTICIPATION . . . a time for winding up activities on the hill and planning for experiences with a '60 look.

. . . and everyone is looking forward to the change that is about to take place in the long-familiar halls of Red Lion Area High School.

Teachers are busy completing the year's requirements, taking inventory of supplies, and packing the equipment that must be moved. Extracurriculars have a new look as everyone hurries to wind up the year's activities. Spring sports make final attempts to break all previous records and finish the year in a blaze of glory.

Through it all, be the preparations evident or otherwise, no one can hide his

March 1959. This is the time of year when most students look forward to the end of their duties in school, but in the activity office, now that the '59'ers are relaxing from their duties, a new staff digs in.

Once the theme is decided, these twenty-seven enthusiastic members of the class of '60 line up their respective duties. Those on the editorial staff have the job of recording the year's events, while the make-up artists rack their brains to present the material in an interesting way. The girls on the business staff make plans for handling the yearbook sales scheduled for October, and the typists exercise their fingers getting pertinent information ready for use. The photographers get snap-happy as they shoot pictures, posed and otherwise. There is much to be done. But with hard work and maybe a little luck the 1960 yearbook, the first from the new school, will be on schedule.

Classes and Clubs Create a Whirl of Action

Students look over the chemistry projects. The teachers also enjoyed the display and it is rumored that a person walking by the chemistry lab after school would in all probability see a number of the male members of our faculty experimenting with the projects. A few of the best projects were entered in the County Science Fair where Eric Smith won first prize with the cloud chamber that he had made.

as They Wind Up the Year's Activities . . .

Spring fever is becoming a common ailment and not a few students have decided that from here on life should be a bit easier. However, the teachers had different ideas. To the chemistry students . . . yes, the physics students too . . . this was brought home with stunning force when they realized that their projects were almost due and they hadn't started them yet. Spring being the ideal time for travel, the Biology Club indulged in their annual trip to Washington where they visited interesting spots and had a general good time. The school journalists attended the York-Adams press conference at Manchester and the ag boys took advantage of the weather to make a number of field trips.

Picking out capons to enter in the Chicken-of-Tomorrow Contest is the job of the future farmers on one of their field trips.

French students will remember the day when sour notes filled the cafe as they tried to sing the "Marseillaise." Dale Uhler, Rodger Koons, Ronald Arnold, and Mike Kehr seem to be enjoying themselves as they form a chorus line to do their slightly questionable version, much to the amusement of Miss Nonemaker.

Meals of one sort or another were on the spring calendar for various home ec classes. Rose Laucks, Pamela Geltz, and Beverly Dosch are all set for a freshman luncheon. Doesn't the food look delicious?

As the second semester neared an end the home ec girls finished their various sewing projects, later shown in assembly and at the York Fair, and had luncheons proving their skill in preparing foods. Down in the shop, printing jobs have added to the usual project schedule. In other departments, too, specials of one sort or another were in evidence—programs, contests, experiments, guest speakers, even a television show (the ag boys' contribution to public entertainment). The Library Club sponsored a punch hour in observance of National Library Week; parents, faculty, and journalists, needless to say, enjoyed the refreshments and the entertainment. And when it came to honors for work well done, Caesar must have smiled when six sophomores attained eligibility for membership in the National Latin Honor Society.

a Final Effort to Make the Year a Success.

It works—but why? This seems to be the train of thought in the minds of George Snyder, Phil Throne, Barbara Ellis, Dick Stein and Ronald Arnold as they try to figure out the principles of an experiment in electricity in physics lab. They were very lucky because it worked the first time they hooked it up. Otherwise they might have ruined some expensive equipment.

Gerald Keeney sits on his tractor after winning the local FFA tractor driving contest which was held at our baseball field. He later went on to win the area contest.

The speaker at the Library Club's "Punch Hour" was Miss Melson, head of the Library Department at Millersville State Teachers College. Carol Barshinger presents her with a bouquet of flowers as Mrs. Shermeyer looks on.

The Music Department Gives a Final Blast.

Events of the spring months put a flourishing finish to a busy year for the Music Department. The concert band, choruses, dance band, and other small groups provided entertainment on various occasions . . . assemblies, dances, the spring park concert, and commencement. Of all the events, the Night of Music—actually a two night affair because of the number of groups participating—was probably the peak. The Friday program involved junior high groups primarily, while Saturday was definitely senior high. For the numbers, instrumental and vocal, performed on those nights, Mr. Ward, Mrs. Adams, and Mr. Goodman had "pulled out all the stops." As the final notes faded away, participants and audience sighed with satisfaction . . . whatever the new building might produce next year in the line of music, in their minds, this season had been very successful.

It's not as easy as it looks; just ask clarinetist Larry Smith. Accompanied by the band, he plays "Nightfall" for his Night of Music solo.

Mrs. Adams leads the thirty members of her Girls Ensemble as they take their turn in the program on the Friday Night of Music. This senior high group of feminine pulchritude was in demand frequently during the year for both school and public programs.

Election-Bent Council Mixes Politics with Fun.

For the Student Council, completing the year's activities meant the usual pre-election party and a lively campaign, plus planning for the transition from the hill to the brand new building on Horace Mann Avenue. The party, held in mid-April, turned out to be the last informal all-school dance in that building. Music furnished by a blaring jukebox and the dixieland sound of Don Detwiler's orchestra kept hands clapping and feet flying. In May the students turned government-minded as they exercised their right to vote. Rodger Koons emerged victorious as the new president, and back to serve a second term were Floyd Warner, vice-president, and Louise Workinger, secretary. On the same ballot students expressed opinions in re-naming the school newspaper; the verdict—"Leonid." With moving day in the offing, council members cooperated with Mr. Sample in planning the assembly and events for June 2.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, so students sharpen their dancing ability at the "Raindrop Hop."

Baseball Champs give a Fiery Finish to the Last

Wow! What a close play! This seems to be the sentiment of everybody as a Susquehannock player gallops to first only to find Bill Freeman and the ball waiting to greet him.

There is an old adage: if at first you don't succeed try, try again. In both 1957 and 1958 the Lions won the Southern Division title, but both years they were edged out in the county championship game by the Bobcats of Manchester. This year, however, coach Fitzkee said we would bring home the bacon, and bring home the bacon we did. The Lions started on their title quest by copping the Southern Division diadem for the third straight time. They got some assistance from Lower Chanceford, who, in the last sports contest they played as a separate high school, beat the runner-up team, thus preventing a tie for the title. The Lions compiled a record of ten wins and one loss before they marched into Memorial Stadium to do battle with West York for the county championship, and when the dust lifted after the game, they were the new county BASEBALL champions. Our team had put some lusty hitting and fine pitching together to bring the season to a great finish.

Gary Warner comes rambling home with another run in the game against Eastern as the Eastern catcher leaps high into the air for the ball. The Lions ball-and-glove boys pounded out base hits all over the lot and when the game was over the Lions had chalked up thirteen runs.

Larry Orwig takes a powerful cut at the ball as he attempts to pound out a base hit against Kennard-Dale. Larry, our team's fine shortstop, was one of the team's leading hitters.

Ron Schmuck scrambles back to the bag as the Kennard-Dale first baseman takes the throw from the pitcher in an attempt to pick him off base. Ron, with quick action and a little luck, made it back safely.

Larry Markel comes chugging into first with another hit in the rout against Eastern. With hitting like this, our team pounded out a grand total of 103 runs for an average of almost nine runs per game, while the pitching staff and defense combined to limit our opponents to a total of 43 runs, or a little over three runs per nine innings.

Warm Weather means Practice for Trackmen...

Spring—and a young man's fancy turns to love. In the case of some of our boys, however, it also turns to TRACK. Beginning in March our team began to practice in the gym, but when the weather became nice enough to move outdoors, they were off to the wide open spaces of the football field. We fielded three teams this year, although the junior high and girls teams entered only the County Meet. In the varsity TRACK meets Gil Smith usually copped top honors for us in the shotput and discus events, fleet-footed Don Strine usually took one of the first three places in the dashes, John Enfield and Don Seiple picked up wins in the distance races, and Jan Hall was tops in high jumping. The only serious incident occurred when Dick Jacobs was hit on the head by a shotput; result, four stitches and a splitting headache.

Evans Snyder goes all out as he prepares to release the shotput at the County Track Meet. The contestants from other schools keep their fingers crossed.

Jan Hall makes like a bird as he clears the bar in the high jump event at the County Meet. In the background are other contestants and teammates Charles Workinger and Ray Trout.

Lynn Downs flashes across the line and breaks the tape as she does her bit in the girls 200-yard relay at the County Track Meet. In the bleachers spectators from other schools look on as the timer stops his watch.

Fore! . . . and the Golf Boys Tee into Spring.

Jim Bitner puts all his weight behind his tee shot as he bangs out a booming drive on the first hole in the match against the faculty, as Mr. Hangen, his opponent, looks sadly on. Mr. Hangen had reason to be sad as he and his teammates are in the process of getting trounced.

Thoughts of green fairways and white sand traps are paramount in the minds of the eager beavers who report for GOLF. These boys are eagerly waiting for the opening of the York County Golf League planned for 1960. In preparation for the league, Red Lion's future Hogans and Sneads played eight exhibition matches, two each with York Catholic, West York, Susquehannock, and Dover. These schools along with ours will be certain members of the league. The Lions won both Dover matches, split even with West York and Susquehannock, and lost both to York Catholic for a very creditable record of four wins and four losses. Only nine boys came out for the team, but what the boys lacked in number they made up for in skill and sportsmanship. The best scores during the season were turned in by Jim Bitner and Chuck Horn. The team played all its home matches and practiced at the nearby Country Club. Their after school practice definitely paid off in the final match against the school's faculty; the team slaughtered the poor teachers.

Mrs. Bowers presents Joyce Snyder with the award for the most outstanding student in the commercial department.

After a year of hard work, pay day finally rolled around on May 15th. Students who had worked hard waited anxiously for their names to be called. Following the rule, "ladies first," Mrs. Diehm presented nine peppy girls with cheerleading awards. Mrs. Smith gave out the G.A.A. letters to those having the required number of points. Members of the track team received their awards from Mr. Shellenberger and the golfers from Mr. Nitchkey. Because of the continued activity in baseball, recognition of players in that sport had to be held off until later. In addition to sports, there were the chorus and band awards presented by Mrs. Adams and Mr. Ward respectively, and the commercial awards by Mrs. Bowers. Last, but certainly not least, Mr. Sample introduced the National Athletic Scholarship Society.

. . . Geared to Suit the Taste of Every Student.

You name it, we've had it! Whether it be the newest in fashions or the latest in spy drama, chances are it has been presented to the students in an assembly. Speaking of drama, on April 23 suspense became the key word as Kurt Singer thrilled the students with exciting spy stories. The intelligentsia of the school were honored April 10 when the National Honor Society assembly was presented. Thirteen new senior members and fourteen juniors were inducted into the Society. Eleven seniors, elected last year, completed the group. Later in the spring came the home ec fashion show, the Student Council nominations, and the awards. Climaxing the year was the last assembly to be held in the old senior high building, when the flags were removed to the new building.

One of the most interesting assemblies coming from the Antrim Bureau was in the person of Mr. Kurt Singer. His talk concerned his experiences in foreign countries and his latest book.

Prom Adds Color to Commencement Season . . .

With spring in full tilt, evidence of the commencement season was everywhere. Seniors were involved in practices for speeches and other parts they were to play in the big days ahead. By May 22, the day of the prom, the gym had been transformed into an exotic paradise, a "Teahouse of the August Moon," complete with incense which penetrated nearby halls and classrooms. That evening in dress suits and rustling gowns, students and guests danced under Japanese lanterns and the watchful eyes of a towering Buddha. At midnight it was into your sportswear for the party at the Red Lion Country Club. A few days later the seniors turned back the pages of time in their class day program. With a series of skits they relived school incidents in keeping with their theme, "We'll Remember Always."

In the setting of a Japanese teahouse prom-goers dance to the music of the Bud Codori Quintette. A Latin American rhythm seems to have crept in on the oriental scene for Monte Mayes, Judy Walker, Dick Stein, and Patsy Smeltzer swing out to the beat of a Cha Cha Cha.

Sunday evening, May 31, one-hundred and sixty-eight seniors sat in ribbon-marked pews at St. Paul's Church and heard Rev. E. M. Clapper of Grace Lutheran address them on the subject "Borne on Eagles' Wings." The day after, they marched down the aisle to receive their diplomas. Four seniors spoke on the theme "Improve Thyself," and Dr. W. H. Aulenbach, the guest speaker, followed with his address, "You Are Responsible." Finally the diplomas were presented by Dr. Dellinger, the area board president, and the seniors headed for the cafeteria to receive the class flower and turn in their caps and gowns . . . for them, the culmination of four years of high school; for the building, its last commencement.

Dr. Aulenbach, the commencement speaker from Philadelphia, seems to have the full attention of the seniors as he breaks the seriousness of the occasion with one of the amusing incidents which highlighted his address.

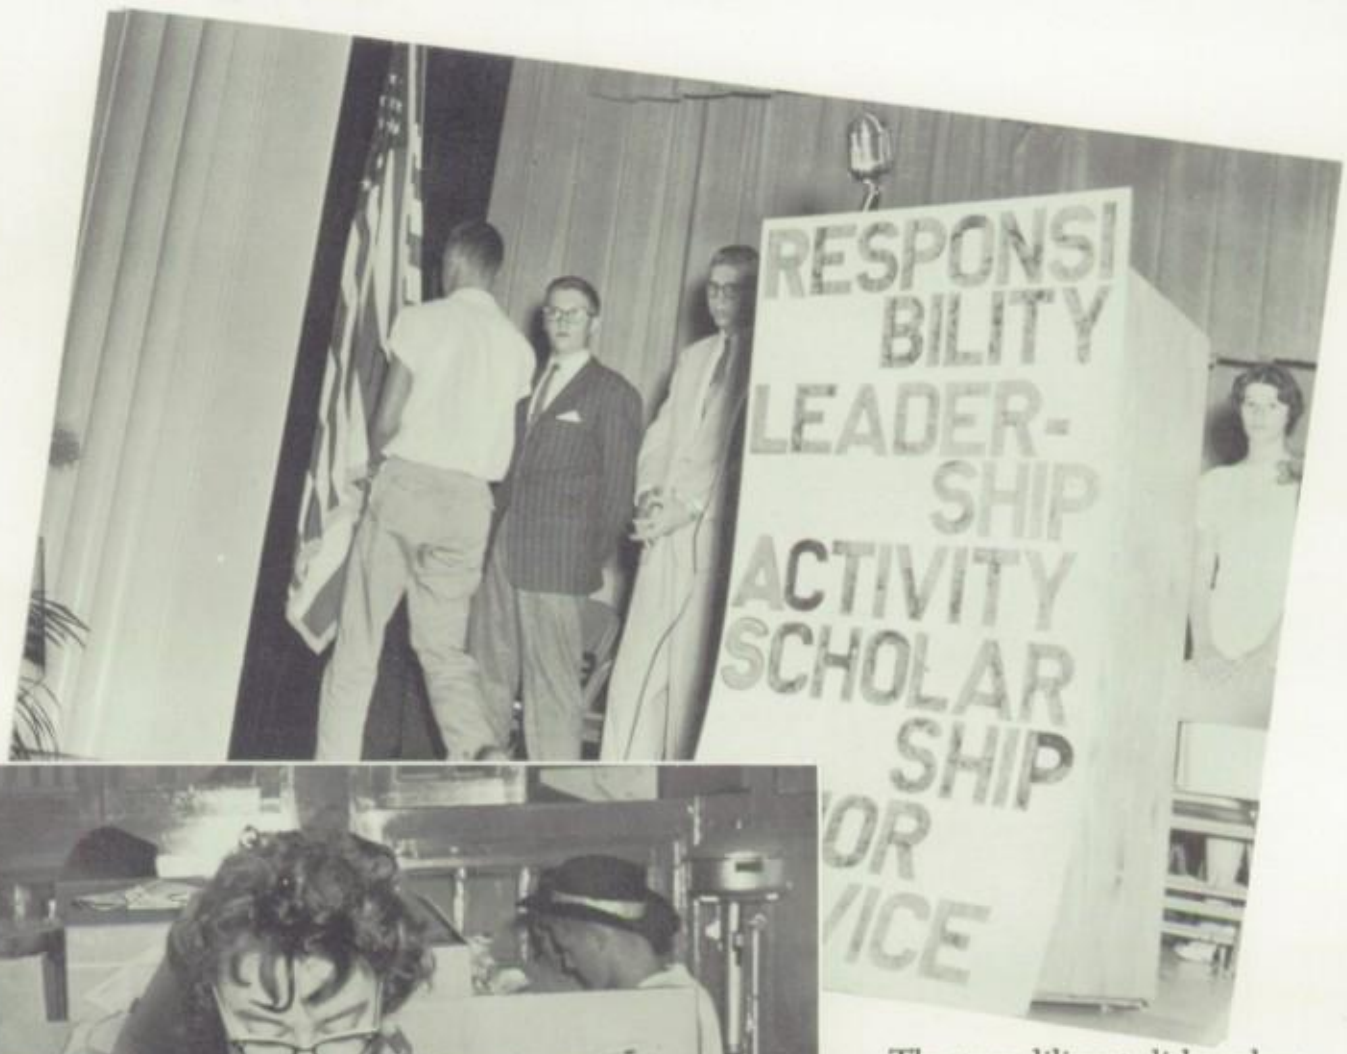
Last Minute Touches and Final Preparations

For Mr. Dan B. Kulp the words, "I pronounce you graduates of Red Lion Area High School," had special significance. The Class of '59 was the fifteenth to graduate since his coming to Red Lion. Too, this turned out to be one of Mr. Kulp's last official duties, for during the summer he terminated his connection with the Red Lion Area School. Mr. Kulp, formerly of Williamsburg, became a part of our system in 1944. While he was supervising principal he witnessed many changes in the Red Lion schools, . . . the remodeling of cafeteria, gymnasium, home ec, and office sections; the changing over of the school organization to a jointure; and the near completion of the new senior high school building. Mr. Kulp was also active in civic activities and in Grace Lutheran Church; on the hobby side, he built quite a reputation for his fishing. In late August he left for Los Angeles where he will serve as head of a private school.

Happy day! The yearbooks have arrived and Sandra Henry and Galen Baker are hard at work unpacking them. Charles Daugherty, co-editor, is overcome by curiosity and takes a sneak preview. After all those months of hard labor, this is the last job of the '59 Lion staff, and when the books are distributed, their work is done.

Highlight Our Last Days on the Hilltop.

Ned Knisely carries the flag off the stage in preparation to move it to the new senior high school while Joel Michael, Rodger Koons, Kristi Landis, and Mr. Sample stand at attention. During this last assembly the keys to the building were turned over to Mr. Blain, the junior high principal.



The two diligent dishwashers of the senior class, Carolyn Lutz and Carolyn Frits, lend a helping hand to Mr. Shaffer on moving day by washing some recently discovered chemistry equipment which was dug out of the back cupboards by other members of the work crew.

D-Day! Thomas Love waits with anticipation (or disgust) while Mr. Tome gives him the good news. The smile on Barry Flinchbaugh's face seems to indicate satisfaction with his report card.

Term '59-'60

. . . we move into a beautiful, recently completed school building on Horace Mann Avenue. It hasn't taken too long to get adjusted to the new situation, and now hard work and equally hard play are in order so that we can make the first term a real success.

We're surrounded by modern equipment, and to go with it is a variety of up-to-date studies and activities. There are advanced classes in various subjects as well as additional language and math courses. Clubs take on the '60 look as some are added to the familiar ones now operating out of new headquarters. Sports have a new flavor on the sparkling hardwood floor of the gym. Much is the same, yet everything seems different because it is in a new setting. Into this school we have put a lot of work and planning, but it is all well worthwhile, for at last our dreams are a

Realization

September, and The Students of Red Lion

The large area of the school district makes extensive transportation in the form of buses necessary. Before three twenty-two they can be seen lining up outside the school waiting patiently to take home their noisy loads.

No blinds for the beginning of school and students had to sweat it out in classes. So Mr. Shaffer, tired of having students think more about swimming in H_2O than learning its chemical make-up, commissioned Jill Grove, Barbara Ellis, Carolyn Boyer, and Susie Conn to coat the windows with Bon Ami.

Supplies for the coming year pour into the spacious new stock room. Levere Horn, Paul Hoffmaster, Donald Jones do their good deed for the day by helping to organize the stacks of equipment.

Find Themselves in Strange Surroundings.

Before school opened, Orientation Night was held to introduce the students to their new quarters. Here the music room is the focal point of interest as the fellows lend an ear to what Mr. Sample has to say.

Thanks to the hard work of the newspaper staff during the summer, the newly-named "Leonid" made its appearance on the first day of school. Freshmen Linda Eberly, Brenda Gipe, and Nevin Ferree apparently find some interesting items in their copies.

Scenes like this were common on the practice field across the street as the Red Lion football team got in shape for another rough 'n' tough football season.

A Fresh Administration Meets the Challenge

Mr. Frederick P. Sample, A.B., M.Ed. . . . Supervising Principal . . . a familiar face in a new post. And what a job he has, for he must keep in close contact with all schools in the area—roughly a matter of over 150 square miles, with some 3800 students and 172 faculty. He is also active in civic and service club work, and, believe it or not, finds spare time for reading and sports.

To all of the students of the Red Lion Area Senior High School, I want to give my congratulations for a highly successful year completed upon the ship on a maiden voyage. This voyage was an unusual experience for all of us, and there was great appreciation for the wonderful way you handled the initial cruise.

I surely hope that the school years to come will be filled with the sincerity and the purposes which guided the student body this year. To all the seniors, allow me to wish the very best of luck and a sincere invitation to return to us many times in the future. To all of the students who are to return as part of the regular student body in the years to come, allow me to ask you to reach higher and higher in your educational program in our school.

Thanks again to all for the wonderful cooperation in the first year of your new school.

Sincerely yours,

Frederick P. Sample

To the Students of R.L.A.S.H.S.:
I extend a sincere "thanks" to each of you who helped make the first year in our new high school a success. We may review happily the achievements of the past year, but it is equally important to look forward, to review our objectives and to continue building toward them from the foundations we have already made.

Our school is a building—massive, impressive, well-equipped, functional. It is also people—teachers, clerks, custodians, cooks—each doing his best to serve pupils, the people for whom the school exists.

Let us use all our resources to achieve the purposes for which our school stands—to do the best with our individual abilities and talents, to learn to think logically and clearly, to prepare for the future, to live successfully with others and to enjoy the beauty that surrounds us.

I extend my very best wishes for success to each of you.

Mr. Carl E. Seitz . . . Secretary for Red Lion Area School Board . . . records, bill paying, and bookkeeping—just a part of his day's work; finds pleasant diversion in music, poetry, and hunting.

Mr. Robert P. Tschop, B.S. . . . Administrative Assistant . . . had a busy fall ordering and organizing supplies and equipment; his off-duty preferences—reading, sports, church work; admits to a sweet tooth for pink lozenges.

Donna Waltermyer, Amaryllis Arnold, and Dianne Paules, three Red Lion graduates, are employed as secretaries for the school. Miss Waltermyer works primarily for Mr. Tschop and Mr. and Mrs. Sheckart, while Mrs. Arnold and Miss Paules handle the bookkeeping and other innumerable duties of the main office.

Mrs. Jeannette Trout and Mrs. Pauline Baerreis are secretaries for Mr. Sample and Mr. Zerbe. After being in the thick of the moving last summer and the reorganizing this year, they no doubt have a restful vacation planned long ahead.

Moving into the new school has been as much of a change for teachers as for students. It also represents the result of long, hard planning. Early last year faculty committees began revising the curriculum for this year. They met frequently and at last came up with what they thought was adequate to meet the students' needs and wishes. Then during the summer the equipment began to arrive and the tremendous job of supervising its distribution fell on the shoulders of those "summering" in the office. Needless to say, hard work and the inevitable late arrival of some materials dampened only slightly the enthusiasm felt at moving into new headquarters.

into a Pattern.

Mrs. Edna Sheckart, B.S. . . . Guidance . . . Future Teachers of America . . . the feminine half of a family guidance team; includes hunting, swimming, and reading among her interests.

Mr. Theodore Sheckart, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Guidance . . . with Mrs. Sheckart, has been responsible for organizing evening sessions for parent interviews, also college and career conferences.

Time out for lunch, and Mr. Beckley, Miss Sweeney, Mrs. Adams, and Mr. Myers combine food and chit-chat. The new cafeteria provides a faculty corner so the teachers can eat in relative peace and quiet, but because of the three lunch period set-up, the group is usually small. These teachers have reason to be hungry —this is the one-o'clock shift!

Mr. Martin F. Miller, B.A., M.S. . . . Home and School Visitor . . . remains loyal to his hobby of Lionel Railroads; is a lover of good books.

Mrs. Carol Starkey, Cert. O.H. . . . Dental Hygienist . . . for her out-of-school pleasure—reading, sewing, and swimming, with plenty of warm summer weather thrown in.

Mrs. Louise D. Strayer, R.N., B.S. . . . School Nurse . . . Future Nurses Club . . . enjoys travel, near or far, but like many other people, isn't a bit enthusiastic about getting up in the morning.

Hats Off to Those Responsible for Feeding

These hard-working cooks—Mrs. Betty Barshinger, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith (manager of the staff), Mrs. Grace Smith, Mrs. Erma McGuigan, Mrs. Ida Stabley—take time out to pose for a picture amidst the modern equipment of the new kitchen.

Other members of the cafeteria staff—Mrs. Viola Schmuck, Mrs. Sara Grove, and Mrs. Alma Smith. These cooks make three complete meals a day, and keep everything spic-and-span between lunch periods.

Mrs. Alma Smith sells tickets to waiting students . . . a new system this year, which makes getting lunch more convenient.

Every day between eleven and one-thirty, some nine hundred students pile into the cafeteria to get some food in their empty stomachs. Often they are too busy talking or too hungry to notice the white-uniformed women responsible for preparing the food, serving it, selling lunch tickets, and washing the dishes. Although maybe not in words, the work of our cooking staff is appreciated, for the students head for afternoon classes with appetites satisfied.

For the janitors, there is never a dull moment in this building. In late summer they began scrubbing, waxing, and shining the building for the new year. After school started came the usual dusting, sweeping, washing blackboards, and keeping things in working order. With so much space and so many windows it is indeed a proposition to maintain a clean, sparkling school . . . our force manages somehow to do just that.

The Mob and Keeping The House in Order.

When most of us are comfortable at home, night janitors Truman Ehrhart and Walter Fry work in the silent halls to get the school in shape for the next day.

Cletus Mitzel as the head custodian is responsible for the entire system. He is a master fixer for just about anything that goes wrong.

For the four daytime janitors a wide variety of jobs makes up the day's work. . . . Wiley Flinchbaugh, Marvin Overmiller, Charles Blouse, and Mrs. Theresa Waltemyer.

The Faculty, Old

Mrs. Dorothy S. Adams, B.S. . . . English, Music . . . Chorus, Girls Chorus . . . travel, her main hobby; in line with this she spent part of her summer visiting the New England States.

Mr. John R. Beckley, A.B. . . . Consumers Science, General Science . . . Science Club . . . gives top interest rating to teaching, outdoor activities (especially hunting and fishing), and hot apple pie.

Election day finds Mr. Frits and his students visiting the polls in the lobby of the junior high gymnasium. Here the 12G political science class learns how the voting machine works as Mr. Frits explains and demonstrates with a model.

Mrs. Verna T. Blakeslee, B.S., M.Ed. . . . English, Mathematics . . . Dramatics Club . . . came to Red Lion from Ohio, but has spent most of her teaching years in the south; has interesting hobbies of china painting and pastel work.

Mrs. Dorothy S. Bowers, B.S., M.A. . . . Office Practice, Shorthand, Typing . . . enjoys singing, dancing, drama, and church activities; took a trip to Cape Cod, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, and the Gaspe this past summer.

Members and New. . .

Miss Helen E. Clevenger, A.B., M.A. . . . Latin . . . Lion . . . a farmer at heart, though limited to flowers and a small garden plot; knits and reads in spare time; is much annoyed with people who talk during concerts.

Mrs. Aleta Ehrhart, B.S. . . . Shorthand, Typing . . . Tri-Hi-Y . . . for this alumna of Red Lion High, a variety of interests—collecting salt spoons and coins, also knitting and crocheting; likes T-bone steaks and bowling.

It's "Macbeth" time for the 12B section and time too for Miss Keeports to show one of the Shakespeare filmstrips which she uses to enliven her English literature classes. Anecdotes from her travels through the Shakespeare country also help make the bard of Avon seem not so remote.

Miss Jeanette L. Espenshade, B.S. . . . Typing, Bookkeeping, Oral English . . . enjoys selling just about anything, is active in community affairs, and managed to visit five eastern states during summer.

Mr. Robert G. Eveler, A.B. . . . Business Arithmetic, Algebra, General Science . . . an alumnus just returned to his alma mater; turns to hunting, fishing, and other sports for out-of-the-classroom activities.

. . . Organize

Mr. Ronald Fitzkee, A.B., M.Ed. . . . Physical Education, Health . . . Football, Baseball, Tumbling Club, Varsity Club . . . devotes most out-of-school time to his two hobbies—Scott and Ron; during the summer attended Eastern States Coaches Clinic.

Mr. Clair A. Frits, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Political Science, Sociology . . . Student Council . . . responds quickly to the call, "the fish are biting," but with the coming of spring, his green thumb pulls him toward gardening.

Barry Johnson, John Anderson, and Richard Weber are extremely busy testing milk to find the butterfat content. This complicated apparatus is a part of the equipment available for student use in our agricultural department.

Mr. Paul I. Hangen, A.B. . . . Civics . . . enjoys bridge and practically any sport; had another summer of Baseball for Boys from June to August; other than that, just the usual life.

Mrs. Hilda C. Jackowick, A.B., M.Ed. . . . English, French . . . Dramatics Club . . . whose hobby is cooking and serving "rattling good food"; spent her summer at Camp Weetamoe in New Hampshire.

Miss Marie Keeports, A.B., M.A. . . . English . . . Leonid . . . a crossword puzzle fan whose fondness for reading extends from Shakespeare to mysteries, and whose urge to travel takes her many places—this summer a return trip to Nova Scotia.

New Equipment . . .

Mr. William D. Maddox, B.S. . . . Driver Education . . . on his entertainment chart—sports, reading, and dancing; was summer playground supervisor for Windsor Boro.

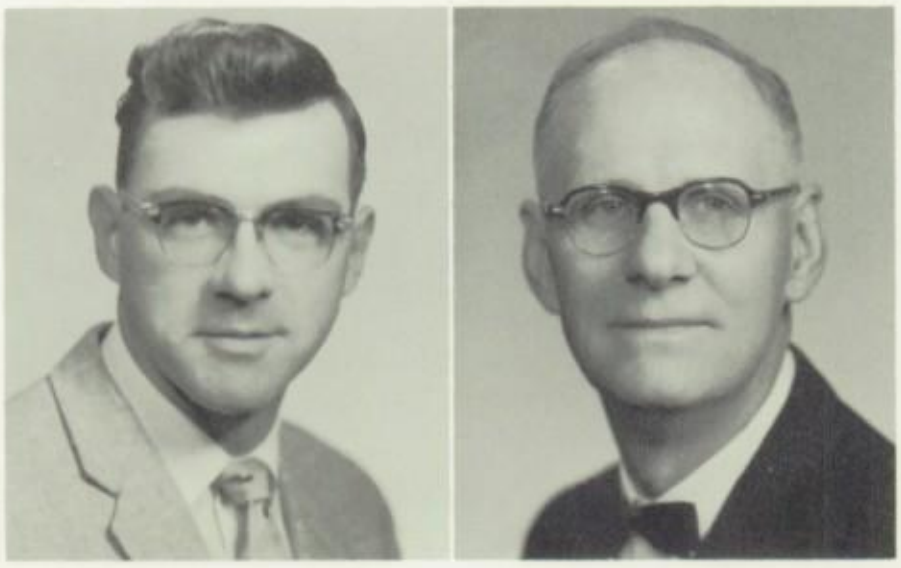
Mrs. Mae Mann, A.B. . . . Home Economics, English . . . Future Homemakers of America . . . has a half-on-the-hill and half-in-senior high schedule; is interested in collecting recipes and kitchen gadgets.

Students in the commercial sections get a chance to use various kinds of office machines. Jo Ann Kaltreider is making a stencil of a letterhead on the mimeoscope under the watchful eye of Eric Landis. Hard at work on the liquid duplicating machine is Gabriel Hildebrand.

No need to be alarmed since the dissected figure being studied by David Anderson and Stephen Anderson is a plastic manikin and not a real specimen cut up in biology class.

Many of us are inclined to think that our teachers are here just to hand out homework and teach us about their subjects. This is far from true, however, as most of them have activities in addition to classes. Quite a few members of our faculty have charge of clubs which meet every week or every other week and they must put time into planning the sessions of these clubs. Some are coaches for one or more of our various athletic groups and they use after-school hours for teaching the fundamentals of the game. Then there are the teachers who assist in the ticket or refreshment side of the sports events, chaperon buses, or willingly give up a Saturday night to be on hand when an organization sponsors a dance.

. . . Teach Various

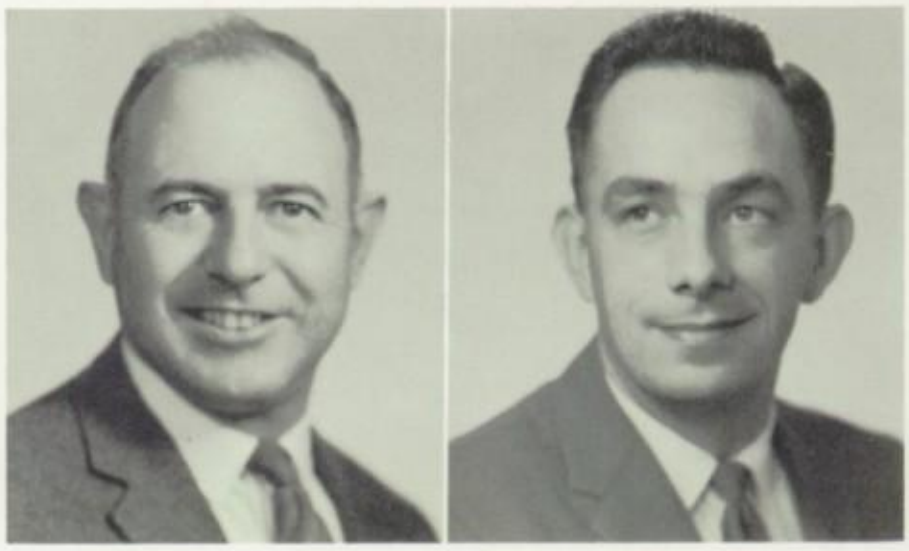


Mr. Hugh M. Miller, B.S. . . . Consumers Math, World History, Algebra, German . . . transferred, along with the German language, from the Lower Chanceford school; has an interest in photography, sports, and philately.

Mr. Daniel E. Myers, A.B., M.A. . . . General Science . . . Ninth Grade Science Club . . . likes golf and other forms of athletics; finds time for music and traveling, concentrating this year on Pennsylvania.

Darline Grim, Kathryn Good, Barbara Reed, Audrey Nace, and Gwen Grove, all members of the advanced art class, get a chance to work with hands as well as minds. Making mosaic, the task presently before them, is just one of the many things they do during their class period.

Mr. Harold M. Myers, B.S., M.Ed. . . . American History, Economics . . . Junior Adviser . . . keeps occupied during free time with woodworking and reading; put the former to use this summer by helping to build a church camp.



Mr. John G. Myers, B.S., M.S. . . . Vocational Agriculture . . . Future Farmers of America . . . enjoys fishing and sports in general, likes plenty of good food; spends the summer months teaching on the farm and preparing for farm shows.

Subjects . . .

Miss Naomi M. Myers, B.S. . . . English . . . Ninth Grade Adviser . . . has a variety of pastimes including typing and tatting, but when June comes, her interest centers on her cottage and boat at Lake Carey.

Mr. Charles R. Nitchkey, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Health, Physical Education . . . Golf, Director of Athletics . . . looks forward to seeing the school's athletic program grow to become one of the best in the state.

Mr. Maddox explains the why's, where's, and if's in the operation of the gasoline engine to three of his driver ed students—Paul McCliment, Steve Keiser, and John Lane. This three-year-old program of safety ed required for all sophomores with driving optional for juniors gets a star rating in popularity among students.

Miss Linda S. Nonemaker, B.S. . . . French . . . Junior Red Cross . . . has acquired quite a collection of miniature dogs; spends her summers at Middlebury College doing advanced study in French.

Mr. William E. Nyer, B.S. . . . Bookkeeping, Business English, Oral English . . . Hobby Club . . . enjoys hunting, fishing, and horseback riding; collects Civil War items, antique guns and furniture.

Mr. Philip R. Over, B.S. . . . Algebra, Basic Math, Business Arithmetic . . . has been chemist, clerk and painter; interested in all sports, even skating on slippery sidewalks—you name it, he's tried it!

Mr. Carroll T. Posey, B.S. . . . Life Science, Biology . . . Biology Club . . . former basketball coach from Lower Chanceford whose sports interests extend to hunting, baseball, and soccer.

Boys with an interest in math and engineering . . . Denny Fitzkee, Ray Kornbau, and Ray Palmer are hard at work in the mechanical drawing room as they practice the basic principles of drafting during a class session.

Mr. Samuel C. Richards, B.S. . . . Art . . . Art Club . . . passes his enthusiasm for painting and sketching on to students; indulges in general outdoor recreation, particularly hunting and fishing.

Mr. Leo J. Savastio, A.B. . . . English . . . Archery Club, Football, Basketball . . . likes spaghetti, pizza, giving tests, and sleep; pepped up his English course with five weeks at Franklin and Marshall.

Mr. Freeland E. Shaffer, B.S. . . . Physics, Chemistry . . . Photography Club, Lion . . . whose hobbies are electronics and woodworking; spent a large part of the summer working on his Master's at Rensselaer.

Extracurriculars . . .

Mr. Dale Shellenberger, B.S. . . . Civics, World History . . . Tenth Grade Adviser, Football, Basketball . . . had a full summer with his four weeks of Basketball for Boys program, a week on the farm, a week at the shore, and back to football in August.

Mr. N. Eugene Shoemaker, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Biology . . . Chess Club . . . was National Science Foundation student at Texas Tech and while south saw some two thousand miles worth of Mexico.

Temporary librarian during the first semester, Mrs. Newton is seen at the library desk checking through the filing cards.

Most of our faculty, whether native or imported to Red Lion, have made themselves an active part of the community. Many of the male members belong to service clubs such as the Lions, Rotarians, and Jaycees; also most of them are sports fans and avid hunters and fishermen. A number of the women belong to the Business and Professional Women's Club, and a few do Red Cross volunteer work. On our faculty, too, are a couple part time salesmen or promoters of their own summer business projects. A few of them are attending night classes in the winter and college in the summer to obtain further degrees in their respective fields. They also have a widely diversified field of hobbies with which to occupy any spare time.

Mrs. Ernestine J. Smith, B.A. . . . Physical Education, Health . . . Majorettes, Pepsters, Cheerleaders, Dancing Club . . . is initiating a Monday evening competitive basketball and volleyball program for girls.

Mrs. Isabel Starke, A.B. . . . English . . . another former Lower Chanceford teacher; has a fondness for children and good classical music: her hobby, to quote, is teaching.

Careful there! Harry Welty uses the band saw to cut a board to make a clamp holder while Barry Gohn gets ready to drill a hole for a mortise and tenon joint. Sounds a bit technical but it's old stuff to the shop boys. Bigger and better machines were installed in the shop this year, and the boys are having an interesting time putting them to use.

Mr. J. Robert Stover, B.S. . . . Trigonometry, Algebra . . . parted with his tonsils shortly after school closed, then headed west; traveled over 15,000 miles through the U.S., Alaska included, and Canada.

Miss Carol Sweeney, B.S. . . . Physical Education, Health . . . Tumbling Club, Girls Athletic Association . . . whose varied hobbies include hockey, reading current books, and painting.

Lend a Hand . . .

Mr. Charles W. Tome, Jr., B.S. . . . World History, American History . . . Senior Adviser . . . likes to follow all sports, play piano, and sing; is an encyclopedia salesman on the side.

Mrs. Florence Uhler, B.S. . . . Home Economics . . . Future Homemakers of America . . . indulges in crafts as her hobby and has a weakness for hats; visited the Russian exhibition while on a jaunt to New York during the summer.

Susie Watkins and Mary Ann Hangen prefer to supervise while Kirby Hickey and Joel Michael do the work on the Latin bulletin board. The project involves sketches drawn by Joel of sophomores whose descriptions were written in Latin by fellow students in 10A.

Mr. George A. Ward, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Music . . . Band, Orchestra, Dance Band, Boys Chorus, Instrumental Ensembles . . . for him, not only a new band room, but best of all, a new son this year.

Mr. Lowell R. Withers, B.S. . . . Shop Math, Mechanical Drawing . . . Stage Crew . . . a former friendly rival from Dallastown High whose main hobbies are archery, woodcarving, guns.

. . . Teachers

Mr. Jay P. Yinger, B.S. . . . General Business, Economic Geography, Rapid Calculation, Retail Selling . . . enjoys all sports, but is especially keen on hunting; worked during summer with a drilling company.

Mr. Ward S. Yorks, B.S., M.Ed. . . . Printing, Drawing, Woodwork, Metal Work . . . Stage Crew, School Printing . . . put the new presses to work for the dedication program; is a builder in his own right, and active in church and printing circles.

New equipment this year has proved exciting to the various gym classes. These freshman boys, under the careful eye of Mr. Nitchkey are working out on the parallel bars. Bob Landis puts a little extra energy into his try.

Mr. David S. Ziegler, A.B. . . . Plane Geometry, Algebra . . . Basketball . . . whose major interest is sports—any kind; set up and helped administer the Basketball for Boys program.

Miss Phyllis Hahn, B.S. . . . Librarian . . . Library Club . . . became acquainted with R.L.A.S.H.S. in the fall as student teacher from Millersville, and returned as permanent librarian after her graduation in January.

MRS. HILDA K. SHERMEYER

In November Red Lion Area was saddened by the death of Mrs. Shermeyer, high school librarian from 1940 to 1946 and from 1952 to 1959.

Mrs. Shermeyer, the former Hilda Keeports, was a Red Lion alumna of the class of '35 and a graduate of Millersville S.T.C. After a year at Shickshinny High, she came back to her alma mater as librarian. Many of her ideas were used in the plans for the new library, which she was to enjoy for such a short time.

In her years with us, she was an active part of the faculty, adviser of the Library Club, and a helpful friend to all students.

There's Activity in the Leonid Domain

LEONID—a meteorite shower shooting out from the constellation Leo at given intervals. This is the new name for an old reliable school activity—the newspaper—formerly called the "Hilltop."

September found the staff getting situated in its new headquarters. From now on the LEONID will make its permanent base of operations the activity office which it shares with the Lion staff. Here staff members cut, paste, write, and perform the necessary operations of preparation. Busy student reporters sign up for their articles on charts posted in the office instead of being chased by frantic assignment-making editors. Even Mr. Miller has gotten into the picture, as he plays postman and delivers the paper's latest issue to the activity office, where the monthly publication is counted and distributed to the waiting student body.

Lona Grim, feature editor, uses part of the Wednesday meeting period to assign articles for some of the junior members of her staff—Michael Young, Wendy Baerreis, and Joyce Shue; Marion Cooper of the business staff is in the background.

Students Have a Say in Governing Their Affairs.

Every Thursday the STUDENT COUNCIL takes on the problems and plans under its jurisdiction—one week with the entire group, the next, the executive committee. It might be said that when council's in session the place is buzzing. Even before school opened in September the officers assisted Mr. Sample in carrying out an orientation program to acquaint students with their new building. Later, in addition to routine duties, came the job of arranging for buses and chaperons for the football games. College Night put the members to work directing parents and other visitors in the building. The suggestion box which they have provided for students' opinions gives them much food for thought, and in many cases provides actual business. Such activities, plus others bound to come with the new building, have made the 1959–1960 term a real challenge to these government-minded individuals.

. . . And Adds School Spirit with Quick Steps,

As the saying goes, the old must make way for the new. So it is with the music department in this new school year. Following through with a new type of organization, this year's band is composed of musicians from grades nine through twelve only; seventh and eighth graders are no longer with us. Additions include students from Lower Chanceford, who with other new recruits, help strengthen the band as well as other musical groups. And for these near-one hundred musicians a new up-to-the-minute music room.

About two weeks before the 1960 term started, the marching band was organized and began practicing. To accompany the band were the old steadies, the majorettes, consisting of three returning members and three new ones, and the color guard, composed of the four boys from last year and four girls added this year. Practice continued throughout the football season. Every Thursday night after school the marching band was on hand to serenade the football team while they practiced. They even braved the cold for extra practice sessions during many activity periods, at times jamming traffic on Horace Mann Avenue. Bad weather seemed to follow the band of Red Lion High, causing three performances to be cancelled, sour notes to be blurted out at the West York game, and bringing a final splash for the Christmas parade.

At the close of the football season, the group became a concert band scheduled for programs throughout the year. From this group come the various instrumental ensembles—brass sextet, woodwind trio, trumpet trio, and the like—all of them pretty special in their own way. Too, there is the assembly band selected by Mr. Ward to liven up the Friday assemblies with a good snappy march while the students enter and leave. There's something for everyone's taste in the line of band music.

For the Football Team, it's Down to Brass

Denny Fitzkee gives his toe a workout as he attempts a placement kick for the extra point after one of our touchdowns against Warwick.

Our first year in the new school got off to a wonderful start in sports, thanks to the efforts of our FOOTBALL team. They accomplished this feat by having a perfect record of six wins and no losses in league competition which made it possible for them to bring home to Red Lion the first Conference of the Roses championship since 1947. This year was also the first year that any team won eight games since FOOTBALL became one of the competitive sports at Red Lion. For the sixth straight year we won the Principal's Trophy by defeating West York. The J.V. squad also turned in a fine record and the ninth grade team has many players who look as though they will make promising candidates for future squads.

Practice began late in August when the team spent a week at Echo Trails Girl Scout Camp. Here they practiced, ate, studied, and dreamed FOOTBALL. After Camp Echo it was on to the new practice field directly across the street from the senior high building. The team's favorite mode of relaxation during practice was to run up and down "Old Crusty," which, for the information of those not in the know, is the steep hill at the far side of our practice field.

"Rally 'round the ball, boys" seems to be the idea here as a Dallastown player recovers a fumble. Should it happen to slip out of his hands there would be quite a scuffle. Thanks to the hard tackling and quick rushing of our line and line backers, fumbles by the opposing teams were rather frequent, and, thanks to some additional hustling, we recovered a large number of them.

The fellows elected Jim Kreeger and Dick Stein to lead them as the co-captains of the team this year. And lead them they did, right to the top. In the Solanco game we were behind 20 to 13 at the half and then scored 27 points in the second half to come from behind and win. In the D-town game the score was 12 up at the half and we scored three TD's in the second half to win. The game of which we are all proudest is the E-town game in which we were picked to be on the short end of the score but we upset them 14-6 and won the championship as a result.

Incidents of this kind were fairly commonplace in this game as the Lions mopped up with a 26-0 score. Below: A Littlestown man tries hard to get somewhere but has plenty of trouble as one of the Lions tackles him almost on the line of scrimmage. Two other Red Lion players quickly converge on the scene of action in case the runner happens to break loose.

This play obviously fooled the Littlestown line, and Dana McGinnis, picks up quite a bit of yardage. Two teammates, Darryl Smuck and Jan Hall, move over to offer protection.

A Donegal player finally succeeds in stopping Dana McGinnis, one of our shifty backs, to prevent what might well have been another touchdown run; the ref looks on.

Pep Rallies, Dances, Banquets, and Awards Show

Friday night finds the students, complete with cheerleaders and band, congregating in front of the high school to give the team their peppy support for tomorrow's game.

The coaches and administration are enjoying the annual football banquet held in our cafeteria to honor the football team.

The seniors' winning float, "King of the Jungle," is put to rest in its assigned parking space on Main Street following its glory march in the parade.

the Team We're Proud of a Job Well Done.

Football season is always an exciting time, and this year pep assemblies and rallies were frequent. On the night before the game with West York, the Lions' traditional foes of gridiron, even the streets of Red Lion were filled with shouting and noise. The rally, spotted with speeches by leaders of school and community, was preceded by a parade featuring floats from each class. In the evening following the 25-6 victory over West York, as the gym was filled with gaiety and laughter, the G.A.A. held its annual football dance, the "Varsity Drag." The finale to the season came November 17—the banquet held in the school cafeteria. For this occasion the principal speaker was the athletic director of Gettysburg College. The banquet proved to be a fitting climax to one of the best football seasons in the history of our school . . . a championship season for the new building.

Two of our football players, Harold Anstine and Curvin Burk, show their dates some flashy footwork off the football field.

Something to dance about . . . the first dance in the new building and a championship team. G.A.A. members, sponsors for the affair, join the football players and other guests on the dance floor.

Freshmen Find That Their Efforts Pay Off.

Football season brought big honors to the Freshman Class. Much to the bewilderment of the upperclassmen they walked off with the honors in the annual football field decoration contest. Each class is allotted ten dollars for the purpose of decorating, and year after year the students do their best to outdo each other with themes suitable for homecoming, parents day, and the like. Strange to say, freshman decorations weren't seen by anyone but the judges. Inclement weather—indeed, a terrific downpour—caused the class to send up an SOS for the judges early in the morning so that the decorations could be judged immediately. The class followed up this success with their first class get-together November 20, a party complete with refreshments, entertainment, and dancing. It was not only the first dance held by the class of '63, it was the first class party—in fact, the only class party—of the year.

Susie Thompson is shown doing a pantomime to music at the freshman get-acquainted party. We are told that by the time she was finished she lost all of the dots on her vest. The entertainment for the evening came entirely from class talent.

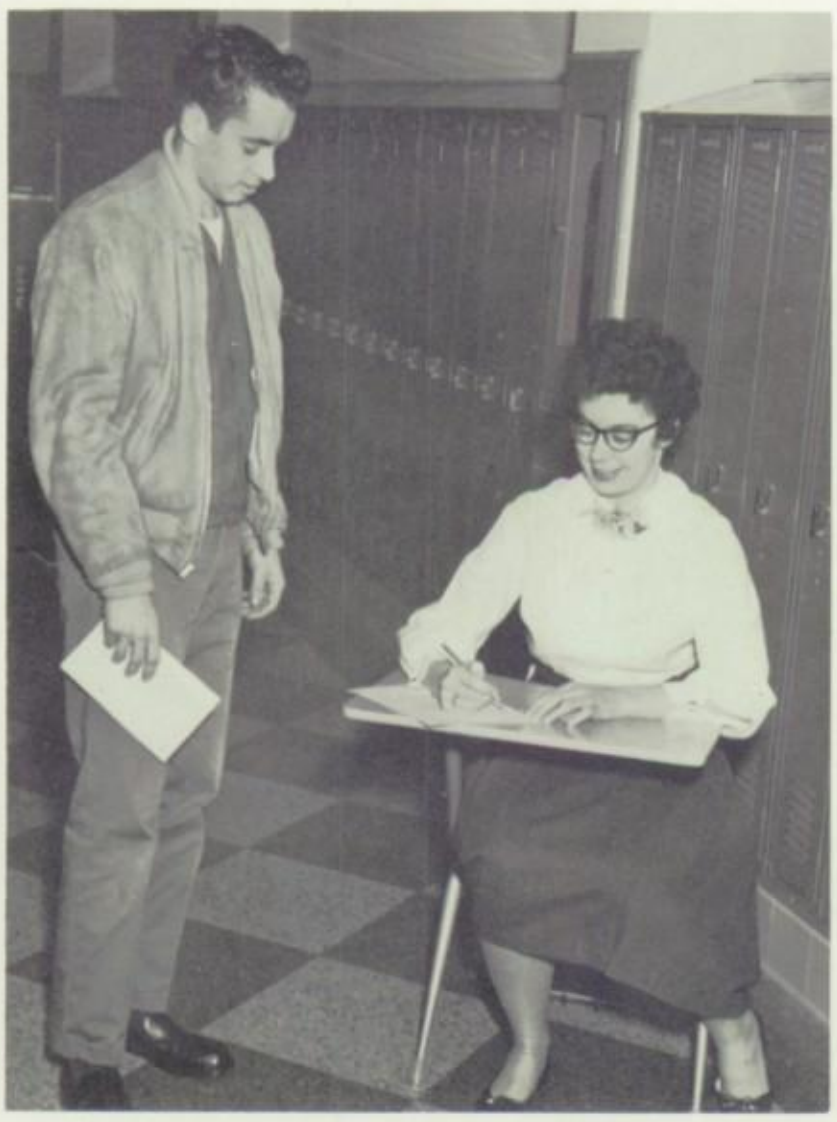
Freshmen Linda Wagner, Karen Poff, Sally Smith, and Pam Sechrist are hard at work in Miss Myers' room making their decorations for the football field. Their theme, "Parents Day," won them the Booster Club's field decoration trophy.

The College-Bound Get Why's and Wherefore's.

Spring or fall, football season or prom time, students are concerned with after-graduation plans. College Night, held on November second, gave those planning to go to college next year or in the future a chance to talk with representatives from several colleges in the area. Consultants and faculty got acquainted and exchanged ideas "over tea" in the cafeteria prior to the meetings. Normally held in conjunction with the spring Career Conference, the college angle was moved ahead this year because of its value to seniors. Both events are sponsored by the Guidance Department where the welcome mat is always out for both students and parents who wish to discuss problems and possibilities.

Student nurses from York Hospital discuss the opportunities in nursing with girls who are interested in that field.

College Night could be mighty confusing if students didn't know where to go. Carolyn Frits is registering John Markey and giving him his schedule for the night.



Mr. Grim takes advantage of the services of the Guidance Department as he discusses Lona's college plans with Mrs. Sheckart.

the Students' Daily Seven-Period Routine.

For just about everyone with an interesting sideline, or a desire to develop one, there is a once-a-week or once-every-other-week activity to suit his tastes. Music, art, hobbies, professions, sports—all are important in giving a much appreciated non-academic boost to the life of a student. Some clubs perform special services—the stage crew takes care of scenery and sound effects for plays and assemblies; the dance band will play for any of our dances. With a club-conscious student body the roster grows and grows, and scarcely a month goes by without having a new idea for a club introduced.

Mr. Savastio goes over plans for a school archery club with prospective members Dale Hinkle, Dean Barley, Joe Colvin, Terry Deitz, Robert Bales, and Terry Jamison.

A battle royal with men thrown recklessly into the fight to guard the king and queen. Actually, it's only a harmless chess game, with Mr. Shoemaker and David Hively engaged in a battle of wits. Carol Barshinger watches and plans her own strategy.

When Club Activities Swing into Action

This first day of the week is a busy one as there are seven clubs meeting. The largest are the DANCING CLUB, with a hundred and seventy-nine members and the GIRLS TUMBLING CLUB with a hundred and seventy-five. The DANCING CLUB aims to give those girls who wish to trip the light fantastic a chance to show their stuff. The TUMBLING CLUB provides many laughs and spills, at the same time improving coordination and skill in tumbling.

For the musically inclined, we have the MIXED CHORUS and ORCHESTRA. The CHORUS offers interested students a chance to exercise their vocal chords in a constructive manner, although sometimes causing Mrs. Adams to experience a moment or two of doubt. As for the ORCHESTRA, Mr. Ward is always pleased to find students who lean to the more classical in music. The group regularly performs at commencement and, with the other musical organizations, at the Night of Music.

Three clubs added to the agenda this year are CHESS CLUB, the HOBBY CLUB, and the COIN COLLECTING CLUB. The chess players actually started last spring, but the others are completely new.

Music, Education, and Gymnastics Headline

And once more, from the first floor of the A wing come musical sounds, this time from the GIRLS CHORUS. These sixty girls have a singing good time as they prepare songs for the Christmas assembly, the Night of Music, and for special numbers at churches. From this group, Mrs. Adams has selected the ensemble of twenty for occasions when a smaller number is desirable.

An ear to the keyhole of A 206 would bring assurance that education is progressing, for here the FUTURE TEACHERS are learning about the teaching profession and how it applies to themselves. The club is new to Red Lion this year, but already it has helped sponsor an assembly program. Speakers and panel discussions are a part of the average meeting. Their plans for the year have included the writing of their own constitution.

Now it's the boys' turn to take over the gym, and anyone in that area may notice the grunts and groans coming from their TUMBLING CLUB. The boys try to develop strong, sound bodies, knowledge, and skill in one or several activities which may be pursued in future years. With all this practice on the new equipment including the new trampoline, the parallel bars, the mats, the ropes, and the rings, they should be able to make a good showing on all occasions. With it all Mr. Fitzkee and his boys are having fun and thrills plus!

In the ag section of the building boys interested in farming carry on club activities under the F.F.A. banner. York Fair, Farm Show, tractor contests, district meetings . . . keeping up with modern farming is anything but dull.

On the distaff side, girls who enjoy the arts, crafts, even work of homemaking meet also in their special quarters. These members of the F.H.A. learn much which will be useful in their own homes in years ahead.

For the sports stars of the school there is the VARSITY CLUB, the requirement for membership being a letter in one or more sports. Movies, guest speakers, and other special programs are the rule rather than the exception for club meetings.

Also on the Wednesday list is a new club for girls only—TRI-HI-Y, an affiliate of YWCA. The club made a fine beginning when it helped sponsor the first county-wide TRI-HI-Y dance.

As for service organizations, two meet on this day. The JUNIOR RED CROSS conducts an annual fund drive and carries on worthy projects such as making Christmas and Valentine favors. The LIBRARY CLUB members work hand in hand with the school librarian doing jobs necessary to a smooth-working library.

Thursday Morning Organizations Wind Up

In this final club period the science people seem to predominate. The BIOLOGY CLUB aims to find out more about nature's many wonders, and bus-tripped to the State Farm Show to collect information. Two SCIENCE CLUBS are concerned with getting the students better acquainted with our laboratory equipment and interesting them in the study of science. Another scientist, Mr. Shaffer, guides the snap-happy PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB with endeavors to absorb know-how about camera and darkroom.

This year the boys have hit the musical headlines, for with the music room available Mr. Ward can finally give boys the same chance to sing as girls. His newly formed BOYS CHORUS invites lads who have a natural knack and liking for singing.

Girls heading for a nursing career learn about this subject as members of a FUTURE NURSES CLUB. Meeting regularly with the school nurse, they discuss topics of interest, call in speakers with experience, and did their bit for assembly.

Down in the gym, about one hundred and twenty budding actors of the DRAMATIC CLUB hold forth. With their one act plays, skits, and readings, members provide much talent for assembly programs.

Decorations, Parties, and Programs Mark

Classrooms are decorated, language classes add carols in their respective foreign languages to the schedule, and a large tree glitters in the lobby—and an entire student body catches the Christmas spirit.

A week before Christmas the Senior Class sponsored the annual dance with "Winter Wonderland" as a theme. A faulty heating system added real atmosphere to the snowflakes and forest greenery which highlighted the wintry scene. On the last day of school for 1959 an assembly was presented in three parts—Christmas is Fun, Christmas is Music, and Christmas is Christ. Then it was back to homerooms for a final party with some all-around fun before leaving for vacation.

Above: The last period of the day before our Christmas vacation was devoted to parties in the homerooms and the exchange of gifts. This freshman room has plenty of food and is having a good time. Right: "Jolly old St. Nicholas, lean your ear this way," sings Carolyn Lutz as she entertains at the Christmas dance. Confidentially, Santa Claus bears a slight resemblance to Dick Jacobs.

Lonnie Stell, Judy Olp, Dennis Zercher, and Jo Ellen Wingler are enjoying themselves at the Christmas dance. In the background kindly old Santa in his sleigh drawn by reindeer wishes everyone a "Merry Christmas."

Since there are no interscholastic sports in which the girls may participate, the fairer sex turns most of its attention and energy to supporting the boys as they compete in the various sports during the year. Girls who join the CHEERLEADING CLUB learn all the old cheers and motions plus some new ones, so someday they might earn a place on a cheerleading squad and meanwhile give vocal support to the team. A newly formed group this year, the PEPSTERS, marched out to the field during football season with the cheerleaders and performed with the band. During the game they provided a nucleus of yelling power. When basketball season started, they joined the CHEERLEADING CLUB. At any game could be found the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders on the job cheering the team to victory. The junior high cheerleaders follow in the steps of their big sisters, working toward the day when they can wear the coveted varsity uniforms.

Another point is scored by the Junior Varsity team, and Portia Hall, Sandra Mobley, and Kristina Landis are really up in the air about it. Dana Grove must be thinking about something else.

High Spirit, Quick Action, Good Strategy . . .

The BASKETBALL team has forged out a wonderful record of 18 wins and 6 losses. The boys started the season by beating Suburban, then lost three straight to Columbia, York, and Central, and rebounded to win over Lancaster and the Alumni. For the first time Red Lion entered the annual Spring Grove Holiday Tournament. Our team surprised everyone by beating Spring Grove and Eastern to walk off with the championship. Darryl Smuck was named most valuable player and, along with Phil Throne and Dick Stein, a member of the all-star team. After Christmas the team zoomed into league competition and canned the first six games only to be defeated by Spring Grove in our seventh, thus ending a ten game winning streak. However, they established a second victory march marred only by the second Eastern game. The Lions set a new school record in scoring by racking up 108 points to trample Southwestern. After losing to Eastern the Lions also were upset by York Suburban, the giant killers, who had also knocked off Eastern and Spring Grove, to move us out of first place for the first time. With a few breaks the Lions might have gone all the way; even so this is one of the best teams Red Lion has ever turned out. The junior varsity did its share too, by winning the reserve league championship, losing only two games. The ninth grade team while not doing as well as their big brothers had some very exciting games scorewise.

In spite of the efforts of a York Suburban player, Darryl Smuck goes high in the air to pot one when it was needed most.

Jan Hall breaks free from some tenacious Eastern players, hopefully awaiting the rebound, to lay in the ball during one of the many exciting J.V. games.

The Gym Rings with Feminine Voices . . .

The girls locker room is always full of laughter and chatter when there is a G.A.A. game to be played after school, for the GIRLS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION, directed by Miss Carol Sweeney, is the feminine answer to the inter-scholastic sports for-boys-only. A first for this year's G.A.A. is that it is open to freshmen as well as the three higher grades. Wiffleball started the season out with a bang followed by basketball and volleyball in the spring. The competition between grades is keen, for the winners of each class then play against each other to find the school champions. High spot in the G.A.A. program is the annual football dance which the girls sponsor in the fall of the year to honor the football team.

Our New Building Gets a Real Once Over.

On Sunday, February twenty-first, the doors of Red Lion Senior High were thrown open to the public from 12:30 to 6:45 P.M. as part of our open house program. The building must have swelled with pride at the comments of the estimated four thousand curious people trooping through it.

Of prime interest for the day, dedication was held in the new auditorium. Dr. W. S. Dellinger, the president of the school board, presided over the service in which the key, symbolic of the building, was presented to the proper authorities. The speaker was Dr. Robert C. Mammock of the University of Pennsylvania. The program was highlighted musically by the band, the chorus, and the Lionettes, all making a first public appearance in the new building.

A part of the huge crowd of interested parents and friends wanders through our school's fine lobby.

Dr. W. S. Dellinger, presides at the dedication of the building planned and constructed during his tenure in office.

We Honor Their Majesties of Hearts.

Happy couples polish up on the latest dance steps as they whirl around the floor to the music of the high school dance band. The freshmen spent many hours working on the cupids and hearts which made up a large part of the decorations for this valentine merriment.

The honor of being the first King and Queen at our new school goes to Lynda Wilt and Dick Stein, crowned by the freshman president, David Keperling, and his guest Linda Hess.

Come hail or sleet, St. Valentine must have his dance, so in spite of several gym-reserved weekends, "Cupid's Ball" was held on February 27 . . . it might almost be considered a leap year frolic. The Freshman Class, no longer a part of the junior high prince and princess occasion of former years, sponsored the event. The King and Queen of Hearts were two seniors, Dick Stein and Lynda Wilt, selected by all four classes in the building; the ceremony attending their crowning was carried out by the freshman president and his guest. There was dance music by our school dance band for all the Dan Cupids and their dates. The entertainment provided for the enjoyment of their majesties consisted of a vocal solo by Kay Wilson, a novelty by Bonnie Brown and Patty Gilbert, and a guitar duet done in fine Ozark style by Barry and Delmar Olewiler.

Juniors and Seniors Combine Their Talents

Red Lion's gone hillbilly, at least as far as the school play's concerned. The scene is Lonesome Valley school in the back hills of Kentucky, where a young school teacher, Jesse Stuart, is just embarking on his career. He has a lot on his hands because his students range from age eight to eighty. The whole situation provides a lot of laughs. A large number of seniors and juniors combined their efforts in learning parts and working on various committees to present the play on March 11 and 12 . . . one play instead of two because of late arrival of auditorium seats. The conditions were improved a hundred percent by the new, bigger and better stage, cushioned seats, and excellent acoustics.

This is the battle of wits between Lonesome Valley and Landsburgh. Eva, Nancy Kopp, is trying desperately to restrain her tears as Budge Waters, Jim Kreeger, comes up with the right answer. Eleanor, Carolyn Flinchbaugh, and Celeste, Susie Conn, have already had a try.

Assemblies Provide Weekly Entertainment.

Due to the fact that the auditorium seats did not arrive on time, all assemblies at the beginning of the year had to be held in the gymnasium. Therefore most of them were pep assemblies. But on January 29, that long-awaited day finally arrived when we had our first assembly in the new auditorium. At last we were able to say good-bye to poor acoustics and tired bodies; now we can hear what is being said, and sit in comfort. The assemblies covered a wide variety of things this year. In addition to the paid entertainers there was music produced by the band and choruses; our athletes were honored in the awards programs; and various departments and clubs publicized their own specialties.

Shades of Stephen Foster! Jose Silva, professionally known as "Mr. Banjo," entertains everyone with his wizardry on the banjo during a February Assembly.

Trophies galore as a result of football season. For the school it's our first championship—the Conference of Roses title. For the Freshmen — David Keperling receives the Booster Club's decorating trophy from Mr. Fitzkee.

A milestone for the new school was the first assembly held in the new auditorium presented by Tri-Hi-Y, Future Nurses Club and the Future Teachers of America. "Why Be A Teacher?" is being discussed by Robert Kline, Ronald Saylor, Linda Laucks, Judy Tarbutton, Delores Goodyear, Lona Grim, and Carolyn Lutz.

Intelligence, Not an Item Lost in Moving.

After the end of the first semester the time comes to honor juniors and seniors who rate high in scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Those who meet the requirements are chosen for membership in NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY. Our own Leo chapter has the proud tradition of being one of the first in York County. This year twenty-six new members bring the current number to forty. Another honor society is the NATIONAL ATHLETIC SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY for students who are in the upper half of their class and have earned a letter in a major sport. On this society's roster are six seniors, seven juniors, and one sophomore.

In All, the Up-and-Coming Underclassmen.

The Lionettes—Mary Ann Hangen, Pam Zarfos, and Kris Landis—entertain the rest of the students with a vocal number during assembly.

Dallas Daugherty, Curtis Ness, Mervin Kashner, and Robert Kauffman are testing the auditorium chairs which finally reached their destination during the Christmas vacation.

These underclassmen really enjoy their lunch break. To them, the third and last shift to eat, the atmosphere in the cafeteria is a welcome change after five class periods.

Juniors Quickly Acclimate Themselves . . .

With only one more year until they graduate the juniors are more active than ever. They decorated the football field and almost won the float trophy with their mechanical skunk which raised its tail and squirted CO_2. They joined the seniors in producing "The Thread That Runs So True," the first play, and the only one of the year, in the new school. On our athletic teams there are quite a few juniors who are excellent athletes. On the scholastic side of things, too, these '61'ers can hold their own very well, being well represented on the honor rolls; they've also been hit by a large number of nationwide tests this year. In entertainment at various social activities they have made their contribution and are proud to claim "Carson's Cats," a dance band formed by one of their own number. This is also a big year for them in that they help sponsor the prom.

Junior officers take life easy after doing some of their many official duties—Larry Orwig, president; Jo Sedgwick, secretary; Dennis Keesey, treasurer; Jan Hall, vice-president.

Jetty Craley, a perky junior with an unusual talent, gives a marimba solo in the Tri-Hi-Y part of an assembly.

In a year of firsts these juniors start early to learn about yearbook business. Gwen Grove gives Wendy Baerreis, Barry Lutz, and Kay Taylor instructions on mountings.

Sophomores Are in the Swing of Things . . .

Well acquainted after a year together as freshmen the Sophomore Class was ready to roll as soon as school began. And roll it did; although there are no parties or prizes in the record it has provided major supports in practically every school organization. These sophs began by decorating a float for entry in the annual pep parade. The 10 A section tried their hand at journalism by planning and editing under the direction of Miss Myers the "Little Leonid," a miniature replica of our school paper. The class probably holds the unenviable record for damage in the new building by virtue of the fact that a misguided basketball met a window in the gym, and Mr. Nitchkey's "unbreakable" parallel bars suffered defeat at the hands of two strong tenth graders.

Freshmen, Newcomers to Senior High, . . .

When students become freshmen it is the beginning of a big wonderful year, but this year has been bigger and more wonderful than usual. These frosh are the first in the new senior high under the 6-2-4 plan. After a few weeks of organized confusion common to all in the new building this class began to move. This in itself is quite a feat as the freshmen are two hundred and thirty-two strong. They started off with a bang by winning the field decoration trophy. Then, to become better acquainted with their classmates, they held a get-acquainted party at which they played games, ate, and danced with each other. In the full swing of things by February, they sponsored the valentine dance, heretofore reserved for upperclassmen. The class of '63 is on its way!

If the smiling faces of the officers—Carson Larkin, vice-president; David Keperling, president; Pam Warner, treasurer, Karen Grimm, secretary—are representative of the Freshman Class, it's a happy group.

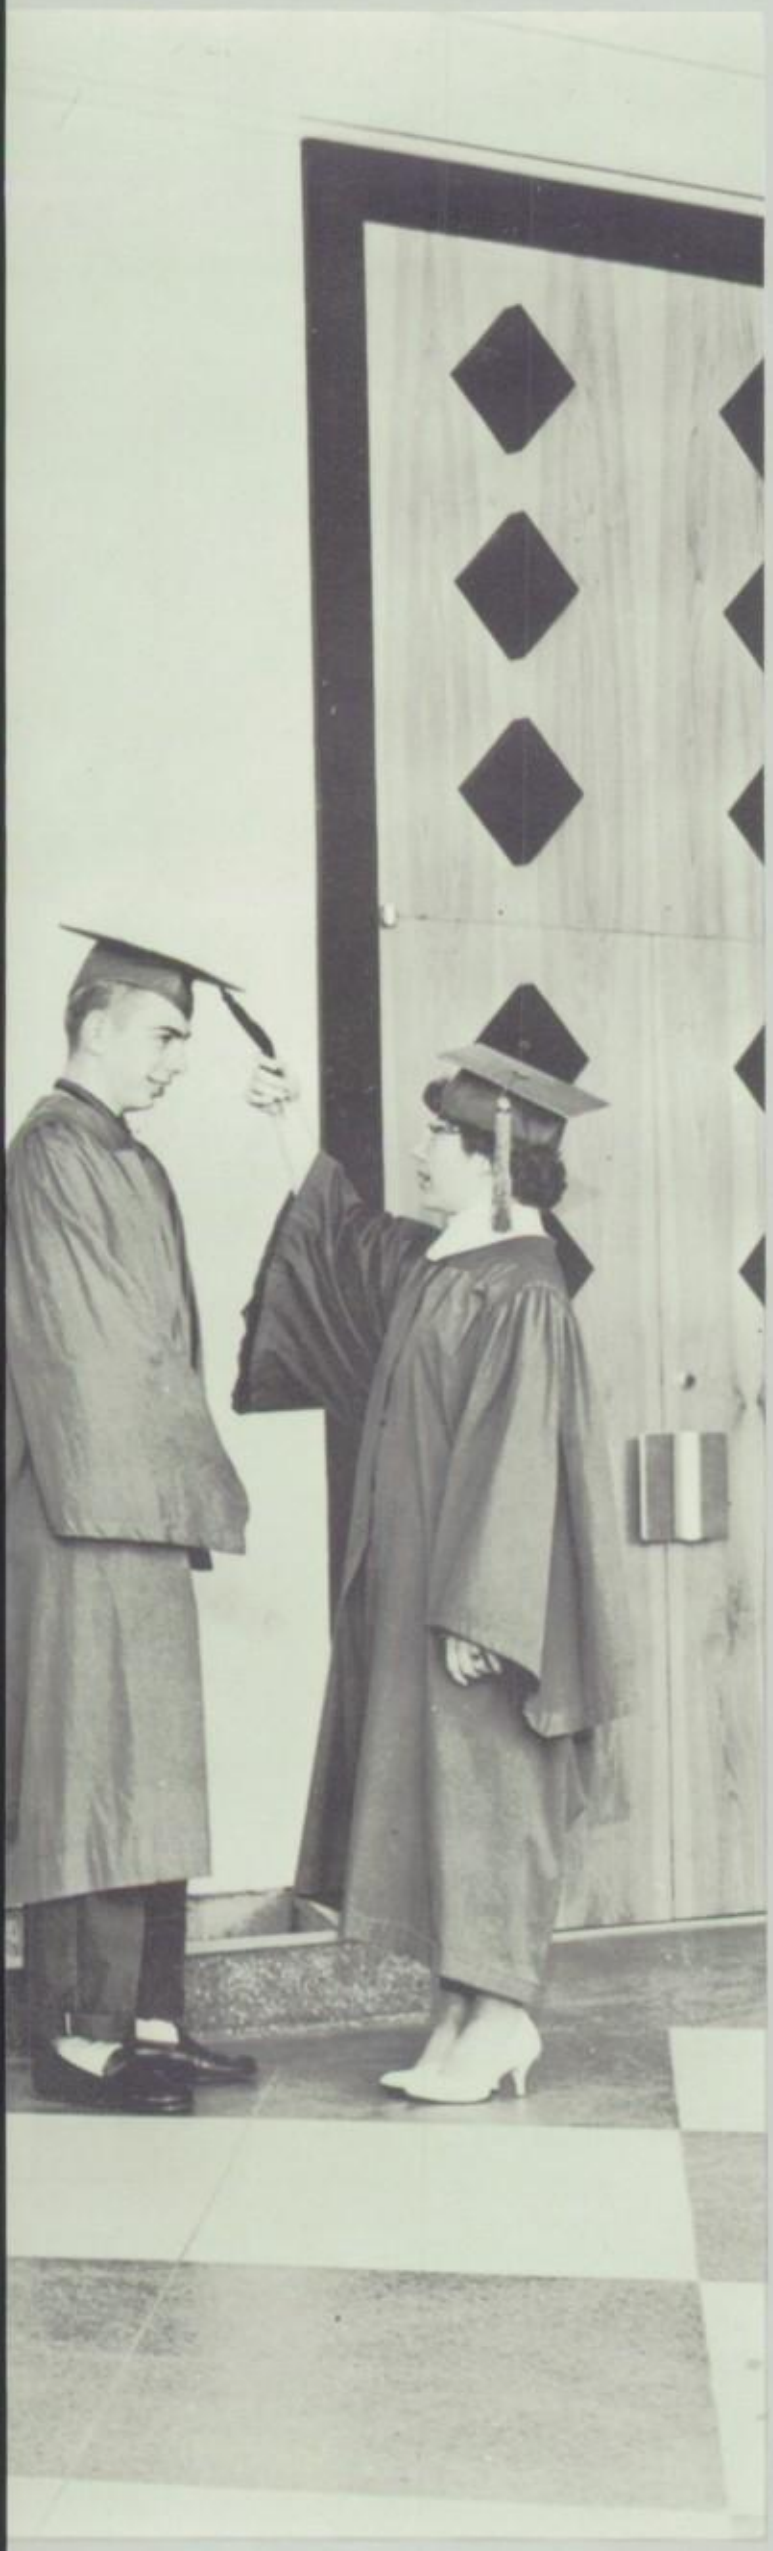
Such is the Spirit of the Younger Set.

A useful part of the locker room is the showers which the boys put to good use after practice sessions. These underclassmen Larry Orwig, Skip Snyder and Bill Sechrist seem to be enjoying this routine procedure.

Robert Gohn, a junior student who was injured in an automobile accident last fall, gets a visit from the members of the photography staff.

This musical group is called on quite often to liven up assemblies and dances. Carson Sechrist is the organizer of these "cats." They're quite different from other bands, both in dress and music.



Spring '60

. . . the new building has long since become familiar. Confusion has disappeared, no one gets lost, activities are now old stuff, but with the first hint of good old spring there's something new afoot. Athletics get ready to move outdoors again for baseball, golf, and track. Student council plans a dance and the clubs prepare to voice their final word. The seniors begin to act like graduates as commencement season draws near. Announcements are finally ordered, senior pictures are eagerly exchanged, everyone has been measured for those all-important caps and gowns. The prom is planned, there are programs for class day, baccalaureate, and commencement to be arranged. You don't have to be a senior to recognize the symptoms of Spring is almost here, and with it naturally comes baseball. Two of Red Lion's mighty speed ballers, Jan Grove and Harry Lohss practice so they can burn them across the plate when the season opens.

This group of long-winded musicians Paul Anstine, John Klinedinst, Gordon Spurley, Bob Hess, Daniel Brant and Bruce Summers—is known in music circles as the Brass Sextet. Their golden tones will be heard at the Night of Music.

VARSITY HOP . . . On March 18 the Varsity Club will sponsor a hop featuring WSBA disc jockey, Wayne Trout, a former Red Lion student. Dancing will be to records and refreshments will be served.

STUDENT COUNCIL DANCE . . . Plans for this party have the tentative date of April 8. The dance is a combination social and publicity project held in connection with council elections. The entire student body will be invited to attend this customarily casual affair.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTION . . . Soon it will be time to vote for the students of their choice, and competition among fellow classmen will be keen. An assembly will be held, nominations made, and platforms of candidates given, then the campaigning. New officers will be chosen at the polls.

NIGHT OF MUSIC . . . On April 30, this traditionally fine program will again be presented by the Music Department. It will feature selections by the Concert Band, Orchestra, and Dance Band. Vocal groups will include Girls Chorus, Boys Chorus, and Mixed Chorus. There will also be selections by several instrumental groups, including the brass sextet. This year, for the first time, the senior high Night of Music will be presented separately, instead of a combined-with-junior high effort as in previous years.

ASSEMBLIES . . . Varied and interesting ones are scheduled for the spring months, some of the highlights being March 18, Edward E. Thompson's demonstration of glass blowing; March 25, the F.F.A.'s contribution to information and entertainment; April 1, the "One Man Shakespeare," Jack Rank; April 14, the Easter assembly to be presented by the Dramatic Club; May 20, the F.H.A.'s annual style show.

. . . That Perennial Disease Spring Fever,

Gwen Grove and Mr. Richards "throw" a pot during an advanced art class with the hopes of displaying it in the May 14 exhibit.

Clair Ness and Robert Thompson are preparing some woodwork to be exhibited this spring in the first practical arts exhibit to be held at Red Lion.

CAREER CONFERENCE . . . On April 25 the Guidance Department plans to hold a conference on the line of the college conference held in the fall, this time featuring experts in the various professions. Through questionnaires given to the students the student and faculty committee will decide what careers will be represented.

PRESS CONFERENCE . . . April 25 is the date set for the annual York-Adams Scholastic Press Conference. It will be held at neighboring Dallastown Area High School. The program, of interest to newspaper and yearbook staffs, includes sectional meetings to be followed by a dinner and dance.

FINE AND PRACTICAL ARTS EXHIBIT . . . May 14 calls for a display of various projects carried out in the Art and Industrial Arts Departments during the school year. These will be exhibited mainly in the C wing, the cafeteria, and halls. The public will be invited.

SPRING BAND CONCERT . . . On May 22, the high school concert group will present its annual concert in Fairmount Park if the weather allows, and in the high school auditorium in case of bad weather. The program will include selections by the entire band and several instrumental ensembles.

and Seniors Find Commencement Near at Hand.

And with every spring day, commencement season comes nearer . . . red letter days, especially for the seniors, who soon will be clutching a long-desired diploma and perhaps packing away the cap among their souvenirs. Plans are being made and, needless to say, with a new school there will be some changes made. The baccalaureate service for the first time will be held in our high school auditorium instead of a local church as in previous years; the date, June 5. Starting off commencement week, will be the ever-exciting prom and, although still in a question mark stage, the class day. The big event, commencement, also to be held in the auditorium, will come on Tuesday night, June 7.

Motto of the Class of '60 . . . Education is the door, character is the key.

Colors . . . Powder blue and white
Flower . . . Red and white carnation

The Reverend Doctor Mervie Welty, scheduled as baccalaureate speaker, holds a friendly chat with seniors Frances Wierman and Loretta Holtzapple.

Dr. Gilbert D. McKlveen, educator and lecturer from Lebanon Valley College, will be the speaker for the commencement exercises. He is noted for sprinkling humor into the serious side of life.

How big is your head? Jim Fager doesn't appear to be the least bit concerned as Mr. Singley takes measurements for caps and gowns. Gerald Eberly, Nancy Brenneman, Barry Gohn, Jan Grove, and Denny Zercher appear pre-occupied.

Senior officers—Dale Uhler, president; Louise Workinger, secretary; David Hively, treasurer; and Lona Grim, vice-president—tackle a current headache.

Four years ago, the Class of '60 was top rank in junior high, for those were the days of the junior-senior high school. We can recall those first bewildering days, but everyone soon became oriented and the novelty wore off. Freshman life brought that first dance and other social affairs; and we started an annual habit of capturing the float contest trophy. Our sophomore and junior years were active ones; in all fields the Class of '60 was making its mark. We were part of the prom, had a class play, and rated several honor society members before bidding farewell to our hilltop school.

Our trusty supply boys—Darryl Emenheiser, Charles Elfner, and Robert Heffner—carry some paper to the empty shelves for waiting teachers.

September, 1959 . . . a new school year begins, and our goal is finally reached—seniors of 1960. There is a bigger selection of courses this year, with plenty of new opportunities. Our class is also enlarged by the addition of students from Lower Chanceford who joined us in our new building this term. We edited our yearbook, sponsored the Christmas dance, and shared in another first, the junior-senior play. Soon will come class day, the prom, baccalaureate, and our grand finale —commencement.

Fun of Our School Days.

These last four years have been four good years for us; now we look to the future. Some will go to college, some join the armed forces, others get jobs; but it may safely be said that all will remember these hectic and happy years at Red Lion High. For those who intend to go on to further education, this school will have furnished the basic work we need to enter college. The commercial department has trained its students for a job in an office or other similar place. For those planning to become printers, carpenters, metal workers, etc., the shop has given much valuable knowledge. For the boys who are going to work the land on a farm, the vocational agriculture has given a good background. Regardless of the fields in which we find ourselves, there will always be a collection of memories from our alma mater.

Top: Congratulations are in order for Tim Shelley as he receives a certificate from Mr. Zerbe for being a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Test. Right: Betty Jean Snyder demonstrates the delicate techniques of baby care to Arlene Lehman and Cecelia Buchanan.

AUDITORIUM

To Our Patrons

. . . these are the people of the area who, through their generous support, have shown understanding for the youth of the community, appreciation for a fine new building and its up-to-date educational system, and a sincere desire to back school activities. The much appreciated financial boost from them has helped make it possible to include in the '60 LION the many features which mean Red Lion Area Senior High School. We of the graduating class of 1960 appreciate this help and we say

Thank You

Wicked with a paint and brush, that's Carol Warner. Lots of hard work went into making the winter and summer background scenery for the school play.

It's snack time at the valentine dance and these fellows line up to get some of the refreshments.

For the class of '60 memories of high school will stem from a building on a hilltop to one in the valley. Through this book, as in our memories, we present the story of the first year in a new school . . . the story of the friends we made, the things we did, the standards we set, the traditions we started. The year is over, the initial step has been taken; we leave our Alma Mater. However, the anticipation and enthusiasm we have felt for this new building will live on—this spirit of MODERN LEARNING; the '60 LOOK.
